Reported Capture of Port Arthur by the Japanese Not Yet Verified.

Chinese Commanders Disgraced—Li Hung Chang Relieved of Seals of Office.

London, Nov. 5.—A Tokio dispatch says nothing has been heard there regarding the operations of the Japanese at Port Arthur. All idea that the Japanese will raid the Chinese coast has been abandoned. Orders have been issued to have the torpedoes in Tokio bay removed and navigation has been declared free.

A Shanghai dispatch says the Chinese troops under General Sung have evacuated Chin Lien Cheng, and now occupy the mountain pass on the high road to Pekin. Orders have been given to military commanders to defend Pekin at all hazards. The Japanese are marching northwards, aiming to get behind General Sung's army. It is expected all foreigners will be requested to leave Pekin within a fortnight.

A Shanghai dispatch says the Japanese government, despairing of stopping the progress of the Japanese in Manchuria, has stopped discharging supplies of rice for Chinese troops at New Chwang. Many Chinese steamers have been placed under the German flag.

Nankin, Nov. 5.—An imperial decree has been received by the viceroy of Lang Kiang province to proceed to Tientsin and relieve Li Hung Chang of the seals of the acting viceroyalty of China.

London, Nov. 5.—Yokohama advices state that the Pacific Mail steamer Gaelic has been seized by the Japanese authorities on a charge of being engaged in transporting contraband of war. She was to have sailed from Yokohama to Hong Kong to-day.

A Shanghai dispatch says by an imperial edict Prince Kung, uncle of the emperor, has been appointed to the supreme control of the military affairs of China. By the same edict General Weh, on the charge of cowardice in withdrawing from Ping Yang and of embezzling the pay of the soldiers, has his command degraded. Admiral Ting will also be deprived of the honors recently bestowed on him. The feeling of uneasiness in Peking is increasing.

Later dispatches from Yokohama say the search of the steamer Gaelic failed to reveal any contraband articles and she was allowed to proceed to her destination.

BRIEF LOCALS.

Gleanings of City and Provincial News in a Condensed Form.

—A. B. Erskine has received a consignment of tennis shoes for children suitable for gymnasium work.

—James Latimer, summoned for vagrancy, failed to appear in police court this morning and a warrant for his arrest was ordered issued.

—A Chinaman named Lee Yuen Chick was arrested this afternoon for threatening to kill a fellow-countryman. The case will be heard to-morrow and an interesting time is promised.

—The funeral of the late George Gilchrist took place yesterday afternoon from Hayward's undertaking parlors. A number of friends of the deceased followed the hearse to the cemetery. At the request of Mr. Gilchrist, made just before his death, there were no services of any kind at the funeral.

—There is some misunderstanding as to the public school holiday in connection with the Governor-General's visit. The board of trustees has not decided on giving the holiday to-morrow; it will be fixed for some date in the future, probably the day before or after Thanksgiving day.

—John Savannah is of Seattle, where he will to-morrow evening be united in marriage to Miss Maude Middleton, a popular young lady of that city. Gus Varrelman, of this city, is to be the best man, and leaves in the morning on the Rosalie for Seattle. Miss Middleton visited here last summer and made many friends.

—Saturday evening Gospel Temperance meeting in the Herald street Methodist church was the most interesting that has yet been held of the series. The concertina solos given by Mr. Oliver were much appreciated, and Master Barber also favored the audience with a violin solo. Little Alice Barber appeared to be taken with stage fright, and was unable to sing, but the sweet childish face with the doll held carefully in her arms was a pretty picture. The object of the Saturday evening meetings is to promote temperance in a social way.

—The remains of William Kipling were interred in Ross Bay cemetery yesterday. The funeral was very largely attended. It took place from the residence of T. H. Hardy, 151 Fernwood road, at 2 o'clock, and an oration was delivered at the grave by B. H. West. The pallbearers were: Robert Fairley, Thomas Sparks, Thomas Kipling, Alfred Mallet, Wm. Agnew, Henry Matthews, John Ellis and John Pascoe. Mr. B. H. West in his address paid a high tribute to the character of the deceased. The address will be given in full in the Times to-morrow.

They Tell the French That They Will Submit to Superior Force Only.

The French Depart From the Madagascar Capital—The Wires Cut.

Paris, Nov. 5.—The Temps prints a dispatch from Zanzibar saying that the reply of the Hova government to the French ultimatum states that they will submit to force only. The telegraph wires between Anatananarivo, capital of Madagascar, and Tamatava, the chief port, have been cut. The French have departed from Antananarivo.

London, Nov. 5.—A bomb was exploded last night in the residence of Regd. Brett, doing considerable damage. No one was hurt. Brett is the son of the late Lord Esher. It is the theory of some that it was an attempt on the part of anarchists to reach Justice Hawkins, who lives close by the Brett residence. Justice Hawkins recently sentenced several anarchists to various terms of imprisonment.

Paris, Nov. 5.—After listening to the message of condolence to the czar the senate adjourned.

NEWS OF THE DOMINION.

Davies Thinks the Dominion Elections Will be Held in February Next.

Mass for Honore Mercier—Bluejackets Sail for England on the Vancouver.

St. John, N. B., Nov. 5.—Hon. L. H. Davies, who presided at a meeting of the Maritime Liberals, informed your correspondent that he thought the general elections would be brought on in February, as soon as the lists are made up. Mr. Davies states that the opposition contemplate a stirring political campaign, commencing on or about November 24th and extending throughout the Maritime Provinces.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—A posse of Toronto detectives left on Friday evening for Streetsville, expecting to capture a gang of crooks who were waiting a fourth to join them to-day, but the party turned up yesterday and the gang disappeared, giving the officers the slip. The desperadoes sought were Frank Rutledge, Geo. Stone, William Black and an American crook named Jackson, all penitentiary graduates. The inhabitants complained of their presence in the locality.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The general of the Jesuit order in Rome issued an order yesterday to twelve thousand Jesuits throughout the world ordering mass to be said on All Saints' day for Hon. Honore Mercier. The order was carried out in Montreal. The reason given was because of the settlement of the ex-premier of the Jesuits' estates act.

Orangeville, Nov. 5.—O. L. Armstrong, editor of the Orangeville Banner, was yesterday honorably acquitted on the charge of abstracting money from a lady's satchel.

Montreal, Nov. 5.—The steamships Vancouver and Numidian sailed this morning. The former had among her passengers a detachment of bluejackets from the Pacific coast station.

Toronto, Nov. 5.—D. E. Cameron, ex-assistant provincial treasurer, who goes to New York to assume an important position in the Mutual Reserve Life Association, was yesterday presented with a congratulatory address by a large number of friends in the civil service.

AFTER THE CZAR'S DEATH.

Messages of Condolence—The Kaiser Attends Church Services.

Vienna, Nov. 5.—In the lower house of the Hungarian diet to-day, Herr Chlumetsky delivered an eulogy upon the late czar. Herr Lewakouski (Pole) demanded a right to answer Chlumetsky, but was howled down.

Paris, Nov. 5.—In the chamber of deputies to-day a letter was read from Premier Dupuy announcing that the government had forwarded to Emperor Nicholas a message of condolence. The chamber then adjourned until to-morrow out of respect to the late czar.

New York, Nov. 5.—Horif Burok, brother-in-law of the Russian minister of finance, Zelge Weittee, arrived yesterday on the French line steamer La Bourgogne. He sailed from Havre before the death of the czar, and heard about it at Quarantine. He said he was much shocked, as he had been led to believe by bulletins in Paris nine days ago that the czar was improving. He said he knew the czar personally. His successor, Mr. Murok says, is much like his father, and will pursue his father's policy of trying to preserve the peace of Europe.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 5.—The czar, replying to expressions of loyalty passed by the senate, says he is assured of the loyalty of that body and its aid in carrying out the policy of his lamented father.

Berlin, Nov. 5.—The Emperor attended services for the repose of the soul of the late czar in the chapel of the Russian embassy to-day.

DOMINION CAPITAL.

Truskey, the Sandwich Murderer, to Hang on December 14.

Ottawa, Nov. 5.—An order in council has been passed by the Dominion government allowing the law to take its course in the case of Joseph Truskey, sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Mr. Lindsay near Sandwich in the county of Essex. The motive of the murder was revenge. The plea was advanced that Truskey was subject to "pulse apopletic mania," and not responsible for his act. The government, however, has allowed the law to take its course, and Truskey will be hanged on the 14th December, if a new trial is not ordered by the courts. It is understood that the prisoner's counsel is applying for a new trial, and if that is granted of course a respite will follow.

The judicial authorities of Lorraine vindicate the majesty of the law with a vengeance that would astonish impudent culprits here. Last week the court sat at Nancy for hearing criminal appeals, when a young man named Steiner appealed from a sentence of two months for stealing a melon. On the sentence being confirmed, Mr. Steiner observed, "Well, I only appealed to see if you were as big a rogue as the rest of them." This brought a sentence of two years, in addition got as much for similar conduct, and a third, whose sentence was for four months, actually was sentenced to an additional five years for an insulting speech to the president.

CABLE NEWS.

Conservatives Regret Salisbury's Shirking Rosebery's Challenge.

London, Nov. 4.—Lord Salisbury's shirking of the task of formulating a scheme for the reform of the house of lords, while admitting that a reconstruction of that body is advisable, is the theme of general regret on the part of the Conservative press. The explanations of the ex-premier's reticence accepted in Unionist circles is that his address being made only forty-eight hours of that of Lord Rosebery, did not have time to consult with his colleagues as to an alternative programme. Right Hon. Arthur Balfour has promised to address the Conservatives of Newcastle on November 13 if his health will permit. The unanimity of the demand of the party that they be given some idea of their leader's policy with regard to the house of lords is so complete and so well grounded that Mr. Balfour must be more explicit than was Lord Salisbury, or leave the country convinced that the Tories are prepared to fight to the end for all the privileges of the peers. Among the Unionists several propositions are being debated, including one of the appointment of a select committee of the house of lords to consider if the changes to be made that would promote the efficiency of the upper house.

The McCarthyites, though chagrined at the prospects of the prolonged struggle over the house of lords question, postponing all consideration of the home rule question, generally accept the government plan as eventually the surest road by which to reach their goal. The clamor of the Redmondites is that home rule must remain in front of all issues, but is not supported by a single practical suggestion as to how this is to enable Ireland to attain the main object of the nationalists.

Mr. John Dillon, speaking at Mullinahone, voiced the opinion of the majority of the Irish party when he said: "We would be madmen and traitors to the cause if we refused to give all the assistance in our power to help the radicals of England break the power of the house of lords, which throughout generations has been the bitterest enemy of the Irish people."

Disclosures made during the present week that certain members of the London county council, who are also prominent in the ranks of the social purity party, have been financing obscure papers at the expense of the ratepayers, have given a shock to the public and given the opponents of the social purity movement a chance to say that "purityite," "progressive" and "boodler" are synonymous. The purity league is about to try to close the sittings of the divorce courts to the public and to secure the enactment of a law providing that all actions for separation or divorce shall be heard in Camera.

According to the Yachting World Lord Dunraven's challenge for the America cup will contain several stringent clauses, and the possibilities are that there will be no race unless the New York yacht club shall agree to considerable concessions.

The World's article is vague except for the statement that one of the conditions of the race under Lord Dunraven's challenge is that the contesting yachts shall be of the same size.

Advices received from Lord Randolph Churchill, who is now in America, state that his condition has become worse since reaching the United States, and is now such that he needs constant attendance. He will not return to England until June.

The foreign office has notified the Japanese government that it must assume responsibility for the sinking of the British steamer Kow Shing.

According to the reports published today the affairs of the Irish parties grow worse, and the prospects of the passage of any home rule measures are very slim indeed. Timothy Healy is said to have definitely cut loose from Messrs. McCarthy and Dillon, and it is added that he will carry with him, at the outset, about as many men as the Parnellites reckon in their ranks. This, the Healyites claim, will be only a nucleus of the membership their party will eventually have. The tug of war will come at the general election. The Healyites will have a newspaper and the bulk of the money is provided.

J. V. Mack, of the Pall Mall Gazette, predicts that the Irish farmers, who have been the backbone of the Nationalist movement, will become Tories, as they are gradually getting what they want in regard to land, and the increased traffic upon the Irish railroads show [illegible]

The Rev. John Zahm, of Notre Dame, Indiana, who recently had a long, confidential audience with the pope, said in an interview that the pope spoke with intense fervor and precision with regard to his coming encyclical with regard to the affairs of the church in the United States. In addition to his previously recorded utterances on the subject, Mr. Zahm said that the pope particularly insisted that after the question of the apostolic delegate is settled the social question shall be disposed of. His holiness declared that he wished to continue in the direction he had taken towards the working people and towards the rich in the encyclical, "Rereum Novarum."

His holiness referred effusively to Cardinal Gibbons, Archbishop Ireland, Bishop Keane and Mgr. Satolli, and expressed his desire for the development and progress of the university at Washington, to which he will refer with precision and warmth in his coming encyclical. The pope concluded, said Mr. Zahm, by declaring that he would sustain Archbishop Satolli throughout with unflagging zeal and with all the power that belief in the right confers. The pope spoke in highly eulogistic terms of the United States and conversed enthusiastically of the benefits which the church in that country will derive from the operations of the policy outlined in his coming letter.

CZAR NICHOLAS II.

He is a Pious Christian but not a Persecutor.

Livadia, Nov. 4.—The body of Czar Alexander was embalmed Thursday morning. It will lie in state before it is removed to Odessa. The arrangements for the conveyance of the remains to Odessa were completed to-day. The minister of war has been ordered to provide guards of honor at the various points along the route from Odessa to St. Petersburg, and also to place guards along all the railroads that will be traversed. It is said now that Princess Alix will not leave Russia after the funeral. She will go to Moscow on a visit to her sister, Grand Duchess Sergius.

A special service to celebrate the accession of Nicholas II to the throne of Russia was held to-day in the palace church. It was attended by the czar, czarina, Queen of Greece, Duchess of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha, Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt and the grand dukes and grand duchesses now in Livadia. The funeral of the late czar has been fixed for between November 16 and November 20, and the wedding of the czar and Princess Alix will take place a few days later. It is expected that the czar will on this occasion grant extensive political amnesty. Plans were exchanged yesterday, it is said, between Czar Nicholas and Princess Alix.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 4.—Czar Nicholas has issued the following manifesto:

"To-day occurred the holy annointment of our bride, in accordance with the orthodox ritual, to the comfort of ourselves and the whole of Russia, our bride receiving the name of Alixandra Feodorovna, with the title of grand duchess and imperial highness."

Berlin, Nov. 4.—The anxiety which prevailed here during the last stages of the illness of the czar of Russia has been succeeded by a feeling of satisfaction at the tenor of the new czar's proclamation. The terms in which this first official utterance of Nicholas II were couched, have produced the best impression. This is especially the case in regard to the assurance of the young emperor that he will endeavor to promote the pacific development of the country he has been called upon to rule. The firm, almost buoyant, tone with which the bourse, which is always sensible to the least bit of unfavorable political news from Russia, received the announcement of the death of the czar and the subsequent proclamation and accession of the new czar, reflects the general feeling of security with which the German financial and commercial world regards the political outlook. The fact that the czar personally telegraphed to Emperor William the news of his father's death has dispelled any doubts regarding the personal relations of the heads of two great empires. This is especially the case when viewed side by side with the unreservedly sympathetic words which the German emperor uttered at his recent speech at Stettin on receiving the czar's dispatch communicating the news of the death of his father.

Regarding the importance of the religious question in Russia, the following remark, attributed to Nicholas II, is especially interesting: "I am a pious Christian, but my belief in the Savior does not entitle me to persecute others on account of their faith." This remark, if authentic, would indicate the czar's intention of bringing the regime of the procurator-general of the holy synod, Pobiedonostzeff, to a speedy end. Such a development of the religious question, it is almost needless to say, would be hailed with the greatest joy in Germany, as the German Stundists, Jews, Lutherans and Catholics in Russia have long groaned under fanatical persecution.

London, Nov. 4.—A court circular issued last evening says: "Her Majesty has received with the greatest concern the sorrowful intelligence of the fatal termination of the illness of the Emperor of Russia. The Queen, who is allied with the Russian imperial family by so many ties, feels the warmest sympathy with the imperial empress and her family, as well as with the young emperor, who is about to become by marriage Her Majesty's grandson, and for whom the Queen entertains sincere affection and regard."

The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent says: "The czar's manifesto is received with open delight, probably unparalleled in the history of Russian official declarations. The dignified and almost affectionate tone is freely compared with that of the proclamation published upon the accession of Emperor William II."

The Daily Chronicle's Berlin correspondent says: "Some time ago a deputation petitioned the czarewitch to intervene for the Russian Jews. A member of that deputation tells me that the czarewitch replied, 'I despise and condemn the expulsion of your countrymen, but my hands are tied.'"

The Daily News has a dispatch from Berlin stating that Emperor William has appointed Nicholas II to be chief of the Guard Regiment. The Social Democratic newspapers openly vent their hatred of Alexander III, referring to the thousands who languish in Siberia, and the scores who have been executed by his orders. Nicholas II's manifesto has made a good impression in Europe, especially his assurance that he will endeavor to promote the peaceful development of the country.

THE WOMAN WINS.

Three Burglaries in Denver Defeated by One Woman.

Denver, Colo., Nov. 5.—Three masked burglars entered the home of James Scott at 135 Stout street, last night. They went straight to Mrs. Scott's room, forced the door and beat her for over ten minutes, but the woman fought all three so desperately that they were forced to make their escape without touching anything of value in the house. At 9 o'clock Mrs. Scott was alone in the house, and in her room, at the head of the stair landing, on the second floor. She had partly undressed but wore diamond earrings and a diamond breastpin. Her other jewelry was loose on the dress, at the foot of the bed. While sitting up in bed reading she heard some person stumble on the stairs. She called out: "Is that you, Jim?" and right after the door was forced in by the breaking of the bolt, and three masked men entered. Mrs. Scott says: "I said, 'what do you want?' for an answer one man struck me on the head with a small pistol. I started to get out of bed, and one of his partners held me while he ran to the other side of the bed. The man holding me then struck at me with a billy, and kept pounding on the head and arm, until the blood ran down my face and neck in streams. I tried to catch one of them, and managed to kick them away from the bed several times. The man with the revolver I finally got my hands on, and scratched his face with my nails, removing the skin from his cheeks. I tore his mask off and said: 'I know you again.' I realized that I had made a mistake, for he began to club me with the revolver. In my desperation I got up and the three of us fought about the room, until we got to the open window. I yelled 'John, Charley,' and told the men that I would throw them out of the window and kill them. I was struggling with one of the men near the window and screaming murder, when he looked around and saw that his partners had gone. He followed them, and the neighbors, who heard my calls, came in and found me lying on the floor bleeding from the cuts in my head." Mrs. Scott is a powerfully built woman weighing over 200 pounds. She is about 50 years old.

Matters Which Premier Davie Has Been Trying to Settle at Ottawa.

The Northwestern Deputation and the Hudson Bay Railway Scheme.

From our own correspondent.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—I had a chat with Premier Davie yesterday. He has been here for two or three days with the exception of a few hours which he spent in Montreal, having taken a run to the commercial metropolis of the Dominion. Mrs. Davie accompanied her husband. They are putting up at the Russell House.

Mr. Davie tells me he has a number of matters which he wishes to lay before the Premier before the latter leaves for England. Sir John leaves to-morrow. The most important question which Mr. Davie has to deal with is that in regard to the land difficulty which has existed for the past few years between the province and the Dominion. He wishes to get the Dominion to confirm the titles which the province has granted to certain settlers in the disputed portion of the railway belt. If this is not done then the only course for the provincial government to pursue is to take the matter into the courts. The Dominion government, as I have often pointed out, are nothing if not incapable. They don't seem to be able to do anything. The result is that when a question is forced upon them, which requires to be solved in one way or another a reference is made to the courts, or the very ancient practice of relegating it to a royal commission is adopted. In this way we find the school question, which must be definitely settled one way or another some day, before the courts, and the prohibition question before a royal commission and the courts at the same time. So I would not be at all surprised if Premier Davie were compelled to follow a course, which he would have been as well to have pursued before now as waiting on a government which has not touched the matter one way or another, with a view to settlement, for the past year or so. Indeed the subject would not be brought up now but for the fact that Mr. Laurier when in British Columbia made enquiry into the hardships which the settlers have been under from the inaction of the Dominion authorities and has stated that he will bring up the matter next session in parliament. To avoid this the government may be forced to come to some decision with Mr. Davie. If not, an interesting debate may be expected when parliament meets. It would be all the more interesting if the members from British Columbia would take part in it, because as a rule they do not trouble the house when matters affecting their province are up for consideration. In this case the government will no doubt expect their support, as they have got it in every instance in the past. The settlers who are affected will no doubt understand that.

Besides the land question Mr. Davie will no doubt have something to say to Sir John Thompson in regard to the appointment of a chief justice for the province.

There is also the trouble at the New Westminster penitentiary. There will likely be required for this institution a new warden and a deputy warden. Mr. Davie will no doubt be consulted in these matters. The Dominion representatives ought to be consulted rather than the provincial, but for some reason or another it is said that Mr. Davie has more influence with Sir John Thompson than all the Dominion men put together. So far the British Columbia members have been giving such a slavish support—I use the word in a political sense—to the government that the administration does not value it at much.

There are a variety of other matters which Mr. Davie will enquire into when here. Since he arrived Sir John has been very busy and has had little time to give to the provincial premier, although the latter has had two or three interviews. As already said, the premier leaves to-morrow for England, and it is likely before he leaves he will give an answer to Mr. Davie as to what he is going to do as far as the land trouble is concerned. Mr. Davie has already made some promises, which were then looked upon as a very satisfactory character, in a speech from the throne at the opening of the legislature so that he would naturally like to have something definite on this point before another session came around.

D. D. Mann, the well known railway a long interview with Mr. Davie in regard to the railway from Ashcroft north through the Cariboo country. Mr. Mann is interested in this projected road. He told me that chances are good for going on with the work at an early date. As for Mr. Davie he states that there will be a boom in railway construction very soon.

We have had a large and influential—that is politically speaking—delegation here for the past two days from Manitoba and the Northwest. They came like true "westerners" to make a raid on the Dominion treasury. They wanted to open the big cash box, which is not any too full at present, even if it took a crow bar to do the work. All the leading Tories of the prairie province and a few from the territories made up their minds that the government should build the Hudson Bay railway. They came to Ottawa to see Sir John Thompson before he left for England, and told him that his government must build the road. He asked them what they wanted him to do. They had no special request to make as far as any political scheme was concerned, but they wanted the road built, rather they wanted it put in such a shape that work on it could be commenced. They did not care how it was to be done, as long as it was done. They pointed out that this would be the only salvation of the party in the west. The government was primarily responsible for the freight rates, since they would not adopt the remedy suggested by Mr. Blake, and they were wholly responsible for the tariff, so that between the freight rates and the tariff the government had no chance of existence unless something else was started to attract the attention of the people with a view of making them believe that a remedy for the ills would be produced in the direction indicated.

"The Hudson Bay scheme," said one of the delegates, "is popular with everybody in Manitoba, so that if work could be commenced on it or something done to show that its construction was likely to take place, then we could point to the government as being our friends. As it is we have no good defense to make. We pointed out this matter to the government and left Mr. Sutherland, the chief promoter of the road, and Mr. Boyd, M. P., the Conservative whip for the west, to see what ways and means can be devised to carry the matter out. It is to be trusted that they will frame a good reason why the work should go ahead."

It may be mentioned that the road is already heavily bonused by both governments. Indeed no road was ever more heavily bonused and still it has been impossible to finance it. The present government have no belief in the road or the feasibility of navigating the straits. They, however, think that it may pay as a colonization road as far as the Saskatchewan. However, there is a big political point to be made out of it at present if something was done to get it started. It is now more than ten years since Mr. Sutherland has been endeavoring to float the scheme. Some 40 miles have been built, but there it lies, and neither the contractors or those who supplied the rails have been finally settled with.

Senator Sandford accompanies Sir John Thompson to England. The senator is a millionaire and made the best part of his money out of government contracts. The premier and the high protectionist will make good company.

SLABTOWN.

IN THE INDIAN TERRITORY.

General Lawlessness Everywhere Rampant—Railroads Terrorized.

Guthrie, O. T., Nov. 5.—Not one-tenth of the outrages committed recently in the Indian Territory have been the work of the Cooks, but the Cooks are primarily responsible for most of the lawlessness that now prevails. Their success in eluding capture inspired others to emulate them, and under the reign of terror which they instituted crime was more easy of commission, and more difficult of detection, than under ordinary conditions. There are to-day possibly a dozen gangs modelled after that of the Cook boys, but when the Cooks are captured, the others will possibly disband and return to their homes, if they have any. E. A. Peck, general superintendent of the St. Louis, Iron Mountain and Southern railway, recently spent ten days in the territory and will make another trip there to-morrow. Iron Mountain trains have been held up with rather unpleasant frequency of late and the company is making an energetic and determined effort to put a stop to such proceedings. "It would hardly be wise," said Mr. Peck, "to make our plans public, for their success depends largely upon secrecy. I am confident, however, that we will get our men within a short time. This is not a new thing. Other bands of robbers have made us almost as much trouble as the Cooks, and have been just as hard to catch, but we have never failed to get them, and we won't fail this time. I may say in a general way, that our campaign is in the nature of a 'still hunt.' We find certain places to which, for one reason or another, the men must go, and then we 'lay for them,' we work independently of the authorities, although we are glad to assist them in any way possible, and rely upon our own men and our own plans. There are reasons for this which it would not do to mention just now."

Among the law-abiding classes absolute terror reigns. Persons are afraid to travel and afraid to stay at home. They do not know at what hour they may be attacked and robbed, murdered, if they try to defend themselves. Living in a sparsely-settled country, no neighbors within call, no single household can make any show of resistance against a band of reckless and well armed men, and experience has shown that an appeal to the authorities not only fails to accomplish any good, but almost invariably angers the gang to such an extent that a second and more murderous attack is made.

A HILARIOUS WEDDING.

One of the Guests Makes the Event Unusually Lively.

New York, Nov. 5.—In all the festive company at the wedding of Jacob Jacobs and Fanny Weissberg, in Pacific Hall, No. 209 East Broadway, last Saturday evening, no guest was merrier than Coleman Greenberg, of No. 231 Broome street, the jolly bachelor cousin of the bridegroom. He was the life of the reception that followed the ceremony, attentive to the elders, telling the girls in his joking way that although he was 30 years his heart had never been touched, and drinking so often with the men that he began protesting that if any of them wanted locks fixed to come to him and he would do it for nothing, he being a locksmith. Suddenly it occurred to Coleman that, notwithstanding the music and dancing, the feasting and drinking, that things needed livening up. With a loud yell he sprang into a clear space in the middle of the floor and threw off his coat and waistcoat. The wedding guests looked on with pleased curiosity, expecting some new entertainment for their benefit. [illegible] and a few quick movements and Coleman tore off more of his clothing. Smiles gave place to doubtful glances at this point, for Coleman had gone about as far as he could with propriety. Once more a yell, one more hurried clutch and another garment went sailing over the heads of the now astounded onlookers. At the third yell, accompanied by a threatening movement of the hands, women screamed and hid their faces, but before the hands could carry out their designs a dozen men sprang forward to grab Coleman. With a bound he eluded their grasp and darted around the hall, dodging the hands outstretched to catch him, scattering the groups of screaming women and tearing off the few remaining garments as he ran, until entirely nude, he sprang again into the middle of the floor. Here one of his pursuers closed with him and a savage fight followed. Coleman struggled like a madman, and the crowd that surrounded him could not force one of his discarded garments on his body. Isidore Cohen, of 84 East Broadway, the manager of the hall, attracted by the uproar, took a hand in trying to subdue Coleman, but his strength and authority were likewise unavailing. Then somebody ran out, and called Policeman Donovan, who forcing his way through the struggling, shouting crowd in the middle of the floor, tried to arrest Coleman, but no sooner had his intention become apparent than several of the man's friends turned upon the policeman and rained blows on his head and face. Coleman joined in this attack, and rushing at Donovan, stooped, and then suddenly shot upright, striking the policeman under the chin with the top of his head. As soon as Donovan recovered from the shock of the blow he made his way to the street and whistled for assistance. Policeman Moran responded and the two of them entered the hall prepared for war. Coleman was partly dressed when Donovan reappeared with his companion, but he was still ready for fight. He fought like a maniac. The policemen had to use their clubs before Coleman would yield. His head was cut when he was finally dragged into the street and taken to the Madison street station.

ROMANCE OF A BULLET.

A Reminiscence of the Franco-Prussian War—Curious Amulet.

New York, Nov. 5.—This advertisement was printed in one of yesterday's newspapers: "Lost—On Friday evening, in 23rd street, near 7th avenue, a lady's gold watch and chain, with a bullet set in silver, a small glass cross and a medal; the finder will be rewarded at Priest's drug store, 23rd street and 7th avenue." There is nothing remarkable about the watch, chain, cross or medal, but the bullet has a romance which the loser of the trinkets told to a reporter yesterday. It began away back at the time of the Franco-Prussian war. At that time the person in question was studying art in Paris. In her own words, the romance of the bullet is as follows: "When the siege of Paris began I, like a number of other American women, offered my services as a nurse. There were enough of us, I am proud to say, to maintain a hospital of our own. About the last of October or the first of November, 24 years ago, our ambulance drove up one day to the tent over which I had charge, and they lifted a handsome young Zouave out of it. He had been shot in the calf of the leg. The surgeons immediately laid him upon the operating cot, and began probing for the bullet. I was bathing his head and trying to relieve his pain. When they washed it, and as customary, handed it to the wounded man. With a cheerful smile he said, 'Won't you keep it, Mademoiselle; as soon as I get well, I can go out and get another.' I thanked him and promised that I would keep it and wear it. I had a silver band placed around it, with three little silver chains so that I could wear it on my watch chain."

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain the victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag the victim to the grave. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore bodily health for many years.

HOOD'S PILLS cure nausea, sickness, indigestion and biliousness. 25c.

It is stated that W. F. Forsyth, of Boston, acting for the Hamilton Radial Railway company, has closed a deal for the purchase of the Niagara Central Railway running from Niagara Falls to St. Catherines. The purchase price is something over $400,000 for the thirteen miles of road which will be extended to Hamilton to make connection with the Radial company's lines.

THE NEW CZAR.

The proclamation issued by Nicholas II. on his accession to the Russian throne seems to have created a favorable impression in more than one quarter. It is interpreted as meaing that the young czar will in international matters pursue a policy of peace, and that the anti-German attitude will be abandoned. Another inference drawn from the proclamation is that some attempt will be made to grant civil and religious liberty to the czar's subjects. Many of the revolutionary party usually called Nihilists appear even to entertain the hope that imperial traditions will be ignored and a constitutional form of government established. While there seems to be a good prospect that the religious persecutions which marked the late czar's reign will now be stopped, the party of liberty is probably a little over sanguine if it expects an immediate radical reform of the system of government. The young czar will have serious obstacles to overcome if he undertakes to place the Russian government on a new footing, the chief of which will be the stolid opposition of the court party and the nobles generally. The czar is nominally an autocrat, whose will is law, but in point of fact he is more or less dominated by those who immediately surround him. It would be too much to expect that they will quietly assent to a radical change which would be directly opposed to their personal interests. From all accounts Nicholas II. is not a man of firm will and vigorous intellect, and the work which he is supposed to be anxious to do might well prove too great for his strength.

THE STATE ELECTIONS.

To-morrow's elections in the States may change the complexion of the house of representatives, but less importance seems to be attached to that fact than to the idea that they will supply an indication of the result of the greater contest in 1896. It is for this reason that the contest in New York state absorbs most of the politicians' attention; the outcome in the "pivotal state" is looked upon as a pointer for presidential year. This notion does not seem very well founded, for many things enter into the New York contest which may have nothing to do with the next struggle for control of the national administration. Senator Hill as Democratic candidate for the governorship is opposed by many of his own party who would not be found in a similar position in presidential year. The decent wing of the Democrats is making a determined effort to "down" Tammany and destroy its influence, the opportunity being afforded by the close relationship between the senator and the notorious organization. If Morton is elected it will be largely done by Democratic votes. In that event Hill will probably be thrown out of the presidential race entirely, and the purging of the Democratic party in New York may make it stronger with the country in general. So far as can be judged, Hill is quite likely to meet with a decisive defeat.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The money sunk in making a new channel in the Galops rapids is now about a million dollars, and the minister of railways and canals has officially stated that the channel was not completed according to the contract and the required depth of seventeen feet was not excavated. Navigators refuse to use this expensive channel, as they say it is not safe and continue to use the old channel throughout the rapids. Gilbert Bros., Montreal, the contractors, sued the government for extras, and this morning the exchequer court gave judgment for the Gilberts for $150,000 and interest from April, 1891, or $170,000 in all. The useless hole in the St. Lawrence has now cost seven times the estimated cost, and altogether about a million dollars." So reads an Ottawa dispatch. Such misuse of the people's money will stop when the Liberals get the reigns of power at the next general election.

On Saturday the Colonist quoted from the Montreal Star a paragraph intended to show that "there is nothing in" Mr. Laurier's speeches. In the Winnipeg Nor'wester that reached here on Friday night appeared a quotation from the Colonist of similar import, and the Montreal Star that arrived on the same day gave a passage from a Nor'wester editorial to back up its own words. It must strike any person having a sense of humor that this method of mutual "confirmations" among the parrot-like organs is exceedingly funny.

LACROSSE.
THE CHAMPS OF 1894.

There was a farce enacted on Saturday at Brockton Point grounds, Vancouver. In obedience to the "mandate" of the Mainland "arbitrators," the Westminster lacrosse team were on hand at 2 o'clock to play off the "draw" game of two weeks ago. The grounds and stand were empty, in fact about as empty and hollow as the "championship" awarded to Westminster, because Victoria failed to appear and lost by default. One truthful correspondent reports them as looking "foolish" as they gazed about in their solitary grandeur. Oh! but it must have been an imposing spectacle, as they cheered one another when the game was over and they were crowned victors, and big Coldwell in his wild enthusiasm carried the whole team off the grounds on his shoulders. Lewis gave McKenzie an oration, and McKenzie gave Lewis another. Then they all had an oration with Spain. The cowardly and unsportsmanlike Victorians were roundly hissed by the great crowd present. The "funeral" returned to Westminster on a late tram.

The News-Advertiser of Yesterday roundly lectures Victoria for withdrawing from the league, accuses the club of treating Quigley unfairly says the league got on well before Victoria joined it and will still prosper, and alleges that the managers have resorted to all sorts of silly tactics. The claim that Victoria is making a scapegoat of Quigley is untrue, and the club has always been prepared to abide by the facts of the case. That the league was organized before Victoria was in it is untrue. The league was proposed by W. G. McKenzie, W. H. Cullin and John Hoyt, and Victoria was represented at the Vancouver meeting in 1886, when organization was perfected. As to unfair tactics, Vancouver should be silent. Victoria has for a long time objected to things that have been done and the inspired articles in the News-Advertiser on lacrosse have done their share to promote ill-feeling.

THE CUE.

New York, Nov. 5.—W. A. Spinks last night issued a challenge to any player in America, bar Schaefer, Ives and Slosson, for a match game at 14-inch balk line billiards. His challenge is for $500 a side, 600 points up and toss for choice of tables, the game to be played in New York or Chicago. Spinks in his challenge expressly includes M. Edouard Fournil, the French billiardist, now in this country. He also says he is willing to cover William H. Catton's money as soon as he can find out where it is deposited. Catton recently stated he would play anybody in America, except Schaefer, Ives, Slosson and Fournil. Spinks' headquarters just now are at Mahoney's, No. 894 Third avenue, where Jake Schaefer is practising.

THE RING.

New York, Nov. 5.—A match has been arranged between Young Griffo, of Australia, and Horace Leeds, the Atlantic City lightweight. The pair are to box ten rounds, either in this city or Boston, between now and February. Hugh Behan, Griffo's manager, signed the articles last Friday night. Dr. Dougherty, of Philadelphia, who is manager for Leeds, did the same for his man. The articles call for the men to weigh 133 pounds at the ring side.

There is an unpleasantness existing in Knox church, Hamilton, at present which may force the Rev. Mungo Fraser, D.D., to resign. Jas. Ogilvie sent a letter to the pastor complaining that a new Sunday school building had been erected on account of which the church has been run into debt and he thinks the pastor is greatly responsible for it. Rev. Mr. Fraser has stated that unless the over-officious member resigns or withdraws he will himself retire.

His lordship also made a direction that on the application of the liquidator the secretary of the company should attend for viva voce examination. —The funeral of the late Robert Muir, jr., took place on Friday at one o'clock from his father's residence, Sooke, to the family burying ground. There was a very large attendance of friends and neighbors. Messrs. Rose, Helgison, Milne, Stoddart, Barney and Chartis acted as pall bearers. The service was conducted by Rev. R. G. Munson, of Victoria.

—Before the fall you could get along somehow without a wrap, but now that the season is advanced a waterproof, Cape, ulster or jacket is a necessity. To-day you can get a very beautiful garment for very little money at Partridge's Lansdowne house, 86 Yates street, as he is going out of this line. He needs the room for his millinery department. *

—Engineer Brown, Assistant Paymaster Alton, and Mr. Ward, gunner, late of H. M. S. Pheasant, and three seamen employed in the naval yard, left yesterday morning for England via the C. P. R. Mr. Alton enjoyed his stay on this station and hopes that he will be ordered here again. Lieut.-Commander Blair left for England Saturday morning. Lieutenant Wintour is the only one of the old commission who remains on the Pheasant.

—The Seattle Telegraph of yesterday says: The tug Holyoke broke her shaft early last Thursday morning in the straits between Dungeness and Victoria, and was tossed about helpless for sixteen hours. The United States lighthouse tender Columbine is reported to have passed her during this time without paying any attention to the signals of distress made by the Holyoke. The steamer Augusta came to her rescue and towed the Holyoke into Port Hadlock.

—In these days of broad burlesque and the general bluff and bluster of the stage it is refreshing after the strained and labored efforts to be funny which finds vehicles in the so called farce-comedy of to-day on the soiled adaptations of the French, to announce the coming of dainty little Marie Heath and her merry company of clever comedians and bright and pretty girls, in that ever welcome comedy skit, "A Turkish Bath." It is just one laugh three hours long, but it is all good, wholesome laughter, and you feel the better for it. The fun is fresh and clean, the action snappy and entertaining dialogues lead up to many hilarious situations and outbursts of pleasing vocalism and many clever specialty features. The date will be next Wednesday, Nov. 7.

—Richard Farrell, the immigration agent of the C. P. R., who has just returned from Bella Coola, brought down a sample bag of vegetables grown in that section. The specimens may be seen at the Dominion hotel, and comprise a splendid collection of beets, turnips, carrots and potatoes, some of tremendous size and all as sound as a nut. Mr. Farrell states that cabbages also grow to a great size, while the apples which he plucked from the Bella Coola trees are a very fair sample indeed. One striking feature of both the fruit and vegetables is their peculiar firmness, while they are juicy to the core. Mr. Farrell accompanied the settlers from the point at which they embarked in Dakota to their new home, where he has just left them, all highly satisfied with their surroundings and future prospects. Our Bella Coola correspondent, in a letter which we published on Saturday, speaks in high praise of the untiring efforts of Mr. Farrell throughout the trip to administer to their comfort. Mr. Farrell left for Winnipeg yesterday morning.

These are merits which no other waterproofing process has been able to demonstrate. They are rolled out "The Varnished Board," like all Priestley's dress goods.

THE POSTAL STRIKE.

New and Green Clerks Installed—The Indignation Meeting.

The word "confusion" best expresses the state of affairs that exists in the postoffice at present. A lot of new clerks who never got nearer a postoffice than the wicket have been put on in the places of the unfortunate fellows driven out by the starvation wages of "Sweater" Caron, and until they learn their business the dear public will suffer. There is now the full compliment of clerks at work, but no attempt has been [illegible] brings people from all parts of the city to the office, and several times to-day the vestibule was crowded. To give an idea of what is being done one of the striking clerks says that when he returned at the request of the Board of Trade he checked the outgoing mail and discovered [illegible] curious blunders. He found two North Saanich letters routed to New York and several other things equally bad. Sir Charles Dilke on the Trouble Between the Two Governments.

THE EARL OF ABERDEEN.

Reception to the Governor-General and Lady Aberdeen at the Drill Hall.

Addresses To-Day at Government House—His Excellency's Replies.

Victoria turned out on Saturday evening and gave Lord and Lady Aberdeen a royal welcome. There were fully 5000 people in the drill hall long before the hour fixed for the reception, but the time passed pleasantly. The B. C. B. G. A. band and the Sir William Wallace Society pipers—Messrs. Robertson, Munro, Macdonald, Anderson and McLaughlin—supplying a splendid concert. The drill hall was profusely and tastefully decorated, the railing of the promenade gallery being covered with evergreens and bunting. Just over the main entrance was the band stand which was also very prettily embellished. At different points in the building were appropriate mottoes and banners. On the south side of the hall was a dais, over which was a canopy draped with flags.

The vice-regal party arrived promptly on time and were met at the main entrance by the mayor and aldermen and members of the reception committee. The party were escorted to Col. Prior's room, where a short time was spent in introductions. Lady Aberdeen was presented with a handsome bouquet by Miss Ethel Dwyer. From the room to the dais a lane had been formed by the men of the B. C. B. G. A., through which the party, accompanied by the lieutenant-governor and Mrs. Dewdney, the mayor and aldermen and reception committee passed, the band playing "God Save the Queen." Upon the dais were the Governor-General and Countess Aberdeen, the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Dewdney, Mayor and Mrs. Teague, Senator and Mrs. McInnes, Hon. Col. Baker and Mrs. Baker, Senator Macdonald, Mrs. and Miss Macdonald and Miss Ethel Dwyer. ... City Clerk Dowl... the request of ... with ... Teague ... Capes, Jacks ... front and ...

... by the visitors ... Governm... could ... not being overcome ... of the hall and its poor acoustic properties. He was frequently interrupted by applause and cheers. He said:

Your Honor, Mr. Mayor, Gentlemen of the Municipality, Ladies and Gentlemen:

This address, with its loyal sentiments and its cordial greeting, is a manifestation which assuredly receives our warmest thanks. We are glad to find ourselves in Victoria. We have arrived under pleasing and auspicious circumstances. After travelling a lake like sea in an excellent steamer under the efficient guidance of the captain of that vessel, who received and treated us with every courtesy and attention, we came in sight of Victoria in time to admire the beautiful scenery of its surroundings, and also in time to experience a welcome and a greeting on the part of the assembled concourse that shows that the sentiments of this address are indeed no mere formal utterance, but that they are endorsed and ratified in no uncertain manner by the loyal and public spirited inhabitants of this city. The satisfaction with which we have looked forward to a visit to Victoria will not be diminished I think by the consideration that this position of our present journey forms as it were the turning point—may I not say the crowning point?—of a tour which we certainly shall always remember with feelings of unmixed satisfaction. I refer especially to the remarkable and sustained demonstrations which we have observed in all parts of the Dominion from Halifax and Quebec to this city of Victoria—demonstrations of loyalty, of public spirit and of kindly feeling. And not only so, but unless I am very much mistaken there are evidences everywhere of an increasing recognition of the oneness of this great Dominion of Canada. I mean that the provinces of which it is composed, while recognizing, of course, their individual and separate characteristics and resources, are yet more and more recognizing also the advantages and the benefit of the corporate existence and form of the Dominion as such. And I think these evidences are the more interesting because I am well aware the time is not so far distant since an allusion to that topic would have required to be made with considerable caution on the part of any public official in certain parts of the Dominion, in which I would include British Columbia. And even now I can quite understand that there are very many who would prefer to be excused from speaking in terms of enthusiasm as regards confederation. They would say that they acquiesce in that political event, but they would rather not be expected to go into rhapsodies on the subject. But at the same time I think there is a steady strengthening in this attitude of concurrence, which is perhaps becoming more and more conviction, which in time will give place perhaps to more and more hearty support. I have no doubt that we are largely indebted for this attitude and this public disposition to the great railway which has been created within the last ten years, and we may, I trust, also hope that even the tour of a governor-general may indirectly to some extent have the effect of promoting this sense of a com... country and a common interest. And although of course a governor-general must not render himself liable to criticism by looking too closely after his own private affairs, still even a governor-general must have a holiday. And if he spends it on those acres I do not think anybody will find fault—especially if it enables him to make the acquaintance of those important centres with which it is his duty to make himself familiar, that under the guidance of your public ...
